Good Morning Zeina,

Thank you for sending our office your inquiry for your constituent, in regard to Form I-130, Receipt Number SRC1790673392. Also, thank you for providing our office with the attached, signed Privacy Release form for your constituent.

U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) is committed to adjudicating immigration benefits in a timely and efficient manner to ensure public safety and national security.

USCIS requires extensive background checks for every application or petition. While background checks for most applications or petitions are completed quickly, a small percentage of cases involve unresolved background check issues that result in adjudication delays.

Background checks involve more than just the initial submission for a response related to biographical information and fingerprints. Further inquiry is needed when checks and/or a review of an administrative record reveal an issue potentially impacting an applicant's eligibility for the requested immigration benefit. The inquiry may include an additional interview and/or the need to contact another agency for updates or more comprehensive information. If it is determined that an outside agency possesses relevant information about a case, USCIS requests such information for review. Upon gathering and assessing all available information, USCIS then adjudicates the application or petition as expeditiously as possible.

We have checked into your constituent's case and have been assured that USCIS is aware of your inquiry, and is monitoring progress related to it. However, unresolved issues in your constituent's case require a thorough review before a decision can be rendered. Unfortunately, we cannot speculate as to when this review process will be completed.

We realize that your constituent may feel frustrated by delays related to his case. USCIS must weigh individual inconvenience against the broader concerns of public safety and national security.

We hope this information is helpful to you. If you need further assistance, please contact the Vermont Service Center Congressional Unit.

Thank you,
